Dear Ms. Hunter:

Thank you very much for your thoughtful, interesting and provocative letter of March 8th.

Essentially, I am in agreement with all the points you make in your letter, except for the fact that you seem to tend to exclude hospitals from participating in educational programs for nurses.

Hospitals obviously have a very important role to play. Traditionally, the education of physicians involves two years of so called basic sciences, but then two years in a hospital where they get supervised clinical instruction so that they can learn to apply their basic science knowledge to clinical problems. Hospitals have to be involved in the process or otherwise, we could turn doctors out after four years of undergraduate college, provided they took enough basic science courses in their first two years of college and then more advanced courses in their second two years of college.

Since hospitals are so necessary for education of nurses as well as doctors, it seems to me that some sort of arrangements could be worked out on a more formal and more state-wide basis to accomplish our common goal.

Many years ago, I was an intern at the New York Hospital Cornell Medical Center. At that time, junior and senior students at Skidmore who were getting their degrees in nursing, came to the New York Hospital and essentially lived there for two years getting clinical experience and education and applying the knowledge they had learned of basic sciences in their first two years at Skidmore in Saratoga. As I remember it, they got full credit towards their degree for the two years spent in New York Hospital.

Juanita K. Hunter, EdD, RN
April 19, 1989

For monetary reasons, the plan fell apart.

The State University here at Albany had a similar program going some years ago, but again, it fell apart.

It seems to me that if HANYS and MSSNY, and the Nursing Association all sat down together and worked out a practical program with very high academic standards, we could persuade the legislature and the governor and the Health Department to pursue such a program.

I am equally sure that it would have great appeal for both the private and public colleges and universities throughout the state.

Such a program, I am sure, would encourage young people to choose a career in nursing.

I would supplement all of the above with more standardized and rigorous programs for LPN's. Such a program would be structured in such a way so that those LPN's who showed aptitude and interest, could be encouraged to apply for admission and even financial support in the combined university and hospital degree programs.

Under those circumstances, the hospitals would, in their own self-interest, make sure that the program and instruction for LPN's would be of high calibre in the hopes that some of the LPN's would want to and be eligible to move up the scale and get a degree in nursing.

Again, I agree with most of the points that you make in your letter. But, again, I don't see how you can have a realistic practical program for a degree in nursing without having more active participation by hospitals. I suspect that hospitals would be more than eager to enter into some sort of a serious discussion along those lines.

Again, I would like to point out that what I have said here is strictly personal. It does not in any way, represent the point of view of the New York State Medical Society much less the American Medical Association.

Sincerely,

John H. Carter, M.D.

Class of 1989's Pinning Ceremony.

Date: Saturday, May 13th

As the date draws nearer I will send you a map of the campus.
The ceremony lasts one hour and twenty minutes of that time is allotted to the speech. I have heard you speak several times and each time I have been impressed with your commitment to professional nursing. You are an articulate spokesperson for our profession and I know that our students and their guests will be enlightened and inspired by your words.

If your schedule permits, the faculty of the Department of Nursing would like you to be our guest either at lunch or at a reception in your honor. If you would like to do this, and your agenda allows it, we will make the arrangements and I will notify you about the time and place.

We have requested three hundred dollars ($300.00) in our Pinning Ceremony budget to cover the cost of your travel

In closing I would like to thank you once again. When I informed the students and the faculty that you were speaking

Dear Dr. Hunter,

As May 13th is rapidly approaching, I thought I'd better write and give you some additional information on the Nursing Recognition Ceremony. The ceremony will take place on Saturday, May 13th from 2-3 pm in Seymour Union Ballroom.

Approximately twenty minutes has been allotted for your speech. Please send an abbreviated vita for the person who will introduce you to use. I understand that when you spoke with Kay Wood last week she told you that, after much debate, we have convinced the students to join the faculty in wearing academic garb instead of white uniforms.

I am including three enclosures with this letter. One is a contract blank. Please sign each copy, keep one for yourself and return the others to me. The second enclosure is a map of Brockport and the SUNY Campus at Brockport and the third is a copy of the Nursing Recognition Ceremony program.

If you would like to be our guest for lunch, please let me know and we will set a time and place to meet. If not, please be in the Student Union by 1:30 pm.

Once again, thank you for agreeing to do this -- we are honored.

FROM: Martha L. Orr

March 1, 1989

I thought it might be helpful to clarify my understanding of the arrangement planning and the reimbursement for your expenses to attend the ICN meeting in Seoul. I have spoken with the ITS coordinator; she explained that what is needed immediately is the registration/reservation form, registration fee, and travel deposit. After this is received, ITS will make the additional travel arrangements including the Buffalo to West Coast departure city.

Kim Roberts will work directly with you to submit the ICN registration and the reservation form for hotel accommodation and sightseeing tours. Please let her know as soon as possible whether you prefer for us to submit these forms or if you would prefer to submit them yourself.

My understanding of the Board's authorization for the ICN expenditure is that the Association will pay your registration fee and the cost of the basic travel package to the meeting itself. You would be responsible for any additional expenses. Based on the ICN official travel program, it appears that your reimbursement will be as follows:

Basic travel package:	$1520
Airfare to West Coast:	400 (approximate)
Registration fee:	275
Per diem (8 days):	240

Total reimbursement: $2435

Registration fee $150
Hotel $200

1960
$1610

$350

If you prefer to make your own arrangements, I will be glad to arrange for you to receive the entire subsidy in lump sum. Alternatively, if NYSNA makes your travel arrangements, you would need to coordinate payment of the amounts in excess of the subsidy.

A SPECIAL NOTE FROM TROPICAL & MAJESTIC TOURS - LEADING GROUND OPERATORS IN NASSAU/PARADISE ISLAND:

A special welcome awaits you when you arrive in Nassau, the ancient, yet modern sophisticated Capital of the 700 islands which comprise the Commonwealth of the Bahamas.

The Bahamas is a foreign destination close to home; it does not have a big city scene, just a friendly hometown atmosphere where you can get away from it all and still do it all - if you wish.

When you arrive at the airport, you will immediately notice the friendliness of the people who meet and greet you. Driving on the left hand side of road will be your first of many foreign experiences.

You will find that New Providence and Paradise Island are not our largest islands, but they are packed with more than enough fun and festivities to complement an enjoyable vacation.

Our clients are very special to us. Therefore we treat you that way from the moment you arrive at the airport, until you depart our island.

Our airport representatives will assist in ensuring smooth passage through the customs area and then into the waiting buses. Our transportation fleet consists of radio-equipped Chevy buses, Volkswagen buses, 25-seater Toyota buses and Cadillac limousines.

Upon arrival at the hotel, you will be greeted by our uniformed hostess who will be available to assist you throughout your stay.

We will try to make your vacation enjoyable and if there are any questions or problems which might arise while you are here our hostess is always available to assist you.
